On last Sunday at Ft. Worth, marked the opening of the season with the wind blowing at a high rate. The Dallas Black Giants went down in defeat, playing the most ragged game ever seen in a first class park.

The Black Giants were out classed at every angle and were absolutely helpless at the hands of their over the river masters. Many rooters and fans made the pilgrimage to the Packing-town-ville to see what they had expected—a base ball game. Much to their regret the worst exhibition the Giants ever put up was seen at the Ft. Worth park last week.

Manager Whitaker's team played as if they had been struck by a "solar-plexus" blow in the squared ring or imbibing freely from a container filled with swig; and to say the least the aggregation did not do justice to Dallas' fans reputation; which is the best base ball burg in Texas and as always has been deserved the best club in Texas.

Hits and base running from the Panther-burg swatsmen went galore, while poor fielding and no hitting characterized efforts of the Giants.

Haynes mounted the hill for the McGar clan and went the full route, feeding the Giants at every turn from the Giants at every turn able to solve his mystic delivery, hence he pitched his boys to victory with ease.

Fred Daniels, an idol of local fandom was manager. Whitaker's selection to "chop up" the cunning panther who was too cute and keen to be trapped. Showing clearly his inability to check the slaughter of the Panthersville nine he was yanked in the 3rd and sent to the bench for more seasoning. Pitcher Edwards was sent in at this point and slightly checked the ramblings of the Wiley "dark panther" who only gave but six runs and as many hits which was some improvement over the former Giant.

The "ragety" exhibition put up by the Giants showed that the visitors were not in harmony and the baloon were cut a loose early and at the command of the pilot of the Giant squad, they went soaring. With Kirby, Long and Haywood started at first with the block and tackle used in the first two, making themselves the goats of the travelers, with Dave Johnson bringing up a dismal play at short. Harris was plucked from the line-up and sent to the bench. Joe Jones, a local sand lotter, took his place sending Collins to left.

In the declining end of this game the Ft. Worth boys hit pitcher Edwards at will. "Big "Sand Top" made his debut with a two bagger to right field, making an antelope of Bob Sloan. Chaney carried one within six inches, clearing left field fence for three bags, followed by Bailey, who carried one to the Star and was thrown out at the plate.

Johnson Hill and Rector, each caught one on the nose for extra bases which took what life the Giants had in them and they never rallied no more.

Fort Worth and Dallas will open the penant race at Dallas next Saturday and Sunday.

Notes of the Game.

Pitcher Rector and Spearmon will open the game for Ft. Worth, Sunday.

* * *

More than four coach loads followed their club to Ft. Worth last Sunday.--Watch Ft. Worth, come over.

* * *

"Cat Fish," "Uncle Poker," "Pick" "Pretty Henry," Jim Shands, Pryor, Elihu and Dick Whitaker were seen in the park last Sunday.

* * *

It is regretted by the many fans and friends of Lee Jones to learn that he is not with the Black Giants. It was he who drafted and made the Ft. Worth club for 1920.

* * *

Poor advertising knocked the owners out of more than five hundred dollars in last Sunday's game. Wake up your publicity man and swell your receipts.

* * *

Jno. Hamilton, last season's Giant's short-stop will report to Fort Worth as soon as school is out.

* * *

The Black Giant special headed by boss Whitaker carried four full coaches of fans and rooters to Ft. Worth, last Sunday. Many others went via auto.
